DETAILED ACTION

The indicated allowability of claims 1-6 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to USP 5,090,087. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 9, line 35 includes a blank space.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8,12-16,18-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by USP 5,090,087 (Hipple et al.).

Hipple et al. discloses a sootblower hub assembly (50) which provides a steam seal between a lance (14) and sootblower steam tube (16). The hub assembly comprises a housing (60) a plurality of sacrificial packing (72) in the form of rings. From figure 2 it is clear that if one were to remove threaded bolts (68) and mounting collar (64) that the hub assembly could be removed from the steam tube (16) with the packing material held within the housing (60) by elements (74,76).

Art Unit: 1744

The assembly (50) further includes a packing gland (84) which provides an axial force upon the packing (72). The gland (84) is considered to be equivalent to the claimed compression unit, comprising one or more springs (90) held between compression plates (98, 112). Compression plate (112) is held in place by locking screw (118) which is considered to read on the claimed "detent mechanism".

The packing gland (84) is considered to also function as a packing wear monitor since the axial position of the gland with respect to the end surface (98) would reflect the degree of wear of the packing (72).

Response to Amendment

Applicant's amendments to the claims, filed 1/9/07, and argument that the "Bobcox-Wilcox" reference (DE1176785B) fails to teach or suggest that the packing chamber (16) is an integral unit that can be removed or installed on the steam tube with the packing material held intact is persuasive. The rejection has been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 9-11 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicant's reply must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 CFR 1.111(b) and MPEP § 707.07(a).
